

The Dragon Nest

August 2026

Happy Summer! I'm now officially accepting signups for ARC readers and Street Team members! What's an ARC reader? I send you an advance copy of the book, most likely in digital form, for you to read and review. Then post your review on any of your social media platforms before or on release day, which is December 1. If you're interested in signing up to be an ARC reader you can do that here.

A Street Team member is more involved than just reviewing the book. These people will be my personal hype squad to help get the word out about the book in the months leading up to release. It's a bigger commitment, but it comes with exclusive benefits. If you're interested you can see more specific details and sign up here.

And now, as promised you can see the final bit of character art from the book. This illustration is of a scene where Naya and Darion attend a royal reception.

All character art was created by Luke Fitzsimons.

What I've Been Reading

I just finished reading The Unicorn Hunters by Katherine Arden. I loved this book. It was a masterful melding of history and fantasy with romance and good bit of humor on top. I highly recommend it!

What's Coming Next Month

Next month will be the cover reveal! That's all for now. Be sure to follow me on social media for weekly updates.

A large, stylized handwritten signature in blue ink that reads "N. Tan". The signature is fluid and cursive, with a long horizontal stroke at the top.

Join my Facebook group!

You received this email because you signed up on my website or made a purchase from me.

Unsubscribe

